First Aid Classes Begin For First, Second Shifts

First aid classes began at Cone Mills this week with first shift employees meeting on Tuesdays and Thursday at Print Works and Revolution in the conference rooms. Second shift employees' course is being taught at Revolution.

V. O. Watson and Charles Myers are instructors for the second shift class which starts at 9 a.m.

Tom Hough is instructor for the first shift group at Print Works, and Robert I. Pegram and J. A. Costner are instructors at Revolution. These classes start at 7 a.m.

Forrest H. Shuford, N. C. Labor Commissioner, in a letter this week to Wallace Bourne, Cone Mills safety supervisor, states:

"I notice in the April 17 Textorian that a number of courses on first aid and safety are beginning this week. I want to commend you for moving forward in such a splendid manner, since I am certain this training program will result in much good in the field of accident prevention not only in the factories but in the homes and on the highways.

"I was particularly interested in the statement contained in this article that at least three Cone employees owe their lives to the fact that a first aid was on hand when they were injured. This is certainly evidence of the value of first aid training."

Mothers Invited To See Film

A film and discussion on eating habits of young children will be offered at White Oak YMCA on Wednesday of next week at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Nancy Hawkes, nutrition associate, and Mrs. Juanita Johnson, R.N., of the county health department, will be in charge.

The 15-minute film, entitled "Why Won't Tommy Eat?" tells about a young boy with an eating problem and gives the solution. All mothers of young children are cordially invited to attend.

CARRAWAY REVIVAL—Rev. Raleigh H. Mann, pastor of Laurel Street Methodist Church, Richmond, Va., will be guest pastor at Carraway Memorial Methodist Church during the United Evangelistic Mission of all Methodist Churches in the southeast jurisdiction. The local church will participate May 3-10. Rev. Mann holds an A.B. degree from Randolph-Macon College and a B.D. degree from Emory University. He has extensive evangelistic experience. Eight bishops, 139 district superintendents and 5,000 ministers will take part in this vast revival in the southern states which began April 17 and will continue in some churches until May 24.

Birth Announcement

Dr. and Mrs. John Hornaday, Jr., announce the birth of a son, John A. Hornaday, III, on March 23 at Rome, Ga.

Mrs. Hornaday (Joan) was formerly employed in the Cone Mills Employment Office. Dr. Hornaday, formerly on the Woman's College faculty, is now on the faculty of Shorter College.

National Cotton Week May 11-16

National Cotton Week for 1953 will be held May 11-16, it was announced by the National Cotton Council. A comprehensive sales promotion, advertising and publicity campaign in support of Cotton Week activities will stress the traditional Springtime theme, "It's Cotton Time."

Paul M. Jones, council sales promotion manager, said Cotton Week posters and other display material will carry the slogan, "It's Cotton Time! Pick Cotton—Look Smart, Be Cool, Feel Fresh." Cotton Week, to be held for the 23rd consecutive year, is an annual merchandising event in which thousands of stores participate during a peak season for retail sales of cotton goods.

Veteran Employee At White Oak Dies

Funeral was held last Saturday for Mrs. Emma Ammons, 73, wife of Thomas M. Ammons, at State Street Church of God. Mrs. Ammons, who had been an employee of Cone Mills for many years, died at her home, 2008 Church Street, on Thursday, April 16.

Rev. John L. Byrd, pastor of the Church of God, and Rev. Howard V. Brady, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church officiated. Burial was in Proximity Cemetery.

A member of the State Street Church of God, Mrs. Ammons had been employed in the Spinning Department of White Oak Plant since 1927.

Mrs. Ammons is survived by her husband, Thomas M. Ammons; three sons, Roy L. Ammons and Thomas C. Ammons, both of Greensboro, and Henry G. Ammons of Charlotte; one daughter, Mrs. Josephine Heath of Greensboro; six grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

SPORTS

Swimming Class

A boys beginners' swimming class will be held at Proximity Y on Mondays and Thursdays at 3:30 p.m. At White Oak Y the classes will be held on Tuesdays and Fridays at the same time.

For fun and safety, learn to swim. Parents should encourage their children to learn swimming.

Seven beginners attended the first class at Proximity last Monday.

Softball

Just another week or so and the softball season will begin. Anyone interested in having a team in the Cone Memorial YMCA Softball League contact the Physical Director at the Y.

Tennis

The youngsters have taken an interest in tennis at White Oak. Young and old are invited to make use of the court.

Volleyball

Don't forget the volleyball classes at White Oak Y every Tuesday and Friday night. All "boys" between 16 and 60 are welcome.

Four-District Rally At Church of God

A four-district Foreign Missions Promotional Rally will be held at the Church of God, 200 State Street, today and tomorrow, April 24 and 25. Highlights of these special services will be sermons and open forums by Reverend Wade H. Horton, Foreign Missions Field Representative, Cleveland, Tennessee, and Reverend C. E. French, missionary to India.

Participating districts will be the Kannapolis, Statesville, Winston-Salem and Greensboro districts. Services at 7:30 p.m. Friday, 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, will be under the direction of State Superintendent Earl P. Paulk, of Charlotte.

Public is cordially invited to attend.

Accidents Cost U. S. $8.3 Billion In 1952

Americans paid a frightful price in lives, pain and cash for accidents in 1952.

The National Safety Council added up the bill like this:

Killed—96,000.
Injured—9,700,000.
Cost—$8,300,000,000.

The overall death toll was 1,000 higher than in 1951. Motor vehicles and other public accidents were responsible for most of the increase.

The No. 1 killer was the motor vehicle. Traffic fatalities totaled 38,000. The total was 700 higher than in 1951 and it was the fourth highest mark in history.

Home accidents resulted in 29,500 deaths, a gain of 500 over 1951, but occupational deaths dropped from 16,000 to 15,000.

The Council said the 1952 accident death toll on the home front was four times as great as the toll of American dead on Korean battlefields since the U. S. got into the war there.

"No civilized nation can tolerate this tragic and disgraceful waste of man-power and resources from accidents that are avoidable," commented Ned H. Dearborn, Council president.

School May Day

Traditional May Day ceremonies will be held on the lawn of Caesar Cone School next Thursday, April 30, at 4 p.m. In case of bad weather, the program will be postponed until Tuesday, May 5, states Miss Fleida Johnson, principal.

FREEDOM NEEDS NO SECURITY Which Man Is Worth More?

Can all the minimum wage laws or collective bargaining in the world make the first man worth as much or earn as much as the second?

You know the answer is NO. The man with the pick can probably produce enough in one day to make himself worth, and so earn, about $7. The second man can earn $20.

What makes him worth $13 more a day? The machine.

Then shouldn't the machine earn something, too? What would you say would be fair—the amount it added to the man's income—$13? Actually the machine will get

East White Oak Makes Summer Plans

East White Oak Baptist Church sponsored a play entitled "Slabtown Convention," presented by a dramatic group from Reidsville, on April 18 at East White Oak YMCA. Purpose was to raise funds for the church's Usher Board convention in June. J. A. Gant is superintendent of the church.

Plans are already underway for the summer playground in East White Oak. It is expected that Miss Charlotte Alston will accept the job as supervisor again this year. She has served for the past three years.

More and better equipment is being purchased in order to interest the children.

Nutrition Topic Of Revolution Club

Nutrition associate of Guilford County Health Department, Mrs. Nancy Hawkes, will be guest speaker for Revolution Community Club, Friday, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the club room.

Mrs. Hawkes will show a film on nutrition as related to health. This will be followed by discussion.

President of Revolution Community Club, Mrs. Hannibal Moore, is cordially inviting all women in Revolution to come and bring friends.

Cone YMCA Club Has Outing At Camp

Proximity Y Co-ed Club enjoyed a weiner roast at Camp Herman last Friday night. Seventeen members were present.

Any young person who is a Senior High School student or who is between the ages of 16 and 19 and is a resident of Proximity is eligible to be a member of the Co-ed Club.

More spring and summer activities are being planned. Those interested in joining are asked to call Mrs. Frances Funderburk or Wayne Cates at Proximity YMCA.

Revolution Items

Miss Clara Burtner of Burlington, Mary Hubert and Dorothy Cockman of Greensboro, spent Sunday in Pinehurst.

Mrs. W. L. Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Donnell visited friends and relatives in Asheville Sunday.

Mrs. Lee Cockman accompanied Miss Kitty Pringle to her home in Lawsonville Sunday. They returned home by Hanging Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Ward, Sr., have received word that their daughter, Miss Inez Ward, with Nurses' Air Corps, has been promoted from captain to major.

She recently returned to the States from an assignment in Germany where she was for more than two years.

Major Ward was assigned on her return from Europe to Holloman Air Force Base, New Mexico.

TALKING THINGS OVER—Fred Ziprik, right, new president of Proximity Y's Men's Club, discusses coming events to be sponsored by the organization. Attentive listeners are Howard Garner, second vice president; Bob May, standing, secretary, and Wilbur Honeycutt, treasurer. One officer, Bradley Faircloth, second vice president, was not present when the picture was taken.

Archie May Dies At Home In Draper

Archie Edward May, former assistant overseer in the Dyeing Department at Proximity and supervisor at Fieldcrest Mills blanket division in Draper, died on April 19 at his home. He had been ill several months.

Mr. May left Proximity in 1934 to take a job as overseer in a mill in McKinney, Texas. He joined Fieldcrest in 1936.

A member of the Revolution Masonic Lodge, he was also a director of the YMCA at Draper and a member of Draper Methodist Church. He held a degree in textile engineering from Spartanburg College.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Mozelle Johnson May; two sons, Frankie May of the home, and Don May, U. S. Air Force at Shreveport, La.; one sister, Mrs. Lula Plunkinton of Greensboro; four brothers, Curtis, Howard, Roy and Rufus May, all of Greensboro.

Brown-Pierce Vows Spoken In Wyoming

Miss Jeanette Brown and S/3c Gilbert R. Pierce were married Tuesday, April 7, in the chapel at Warren Air Force Base in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Miss Brown was attended by her fiancée's sister, Miss Doris Pierce, and S/3c Julius Williams of the base was best man.

After the ceremony, which was performed by the post chaplain, an informal reception was given by the parents of the couple, at the Indian Territory Club in Cheyenne.

Miss Brown, a native of Greensboro, is a graduate of Senior High School and was employed as a secretary for Chet Adams Co., sales engineer.

Sgt. Pierce, also a native of Greensboro, entered service a year ago and is in Air Force Technical School, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

They will be in Cheyenne, at 918 West 29th Street, until Sgt. Pierce completes this particular course of training.

Those attending the wedding from here were Rev. and Mrs. Charles R. Pierce and daughter, Miss Doris Pierce, Mrs. Raymond Brown and young son, Jesse, all of Greensboro.

Eno Plant News

by Edna S. Ellis

Funeral services were held Sunday at the West Hillsboro Baptist Church for Mrs. Annie C. Sykes, age 90. Mrs. Sykes had been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Unie Mae Hicks, employee of Eno Plant. In addition, she is survived by a son, Murphy Sykes, and a granddaughter, Marion Hicks, both Eno employees.

Supper Meeting
Proximity-Print Works Community Club will have a covered dish supper at the Proximity Y on Tuesday evening at 6:30. All members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Ira McQueen will have the program.

Housewives Get Latest Tips On Cooking Meals

Savory aromas filled the White Oak Y gym on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week when the third annual Cone Cooking School met to learn tasteful food tips from Mrs. Caroline Veno, home economist for Duke Power Company, Burlington. An average of 150 to 200 housewives daily took advantage of the free classes, meeting for two hours each morning and on Tuesday night. A grand prize was won at each session.

Stresses Need For More Civic Work

Charles W. Phillips, director of public relations at Woman's College, stressed the need for more civic work in the community of Greensboro when he spoke to the Proximity Y's Men's Club last Tuesday night.

Fred Ziprik presided over the business session. Seven members volunteered to attend the district governors' conference on Saturday, April 25. They are George Nance, Wade Jenkins, J. B. Gardner, Jr., Raymond Kincaid, Curtis May, Wilbur Honeycutt, Fred Ziprik.

The club will sponsor the annual golf tournament, details of which will be announced next week.

Girls Of Local Clubs Entertain Mothers

Tonight all Proximity girls who are members of the Cone Memorial YMCA Little Women and Jr. Hi Y Clubs will be hostesses to their mothers at a Mother-and-Daughter banquet.

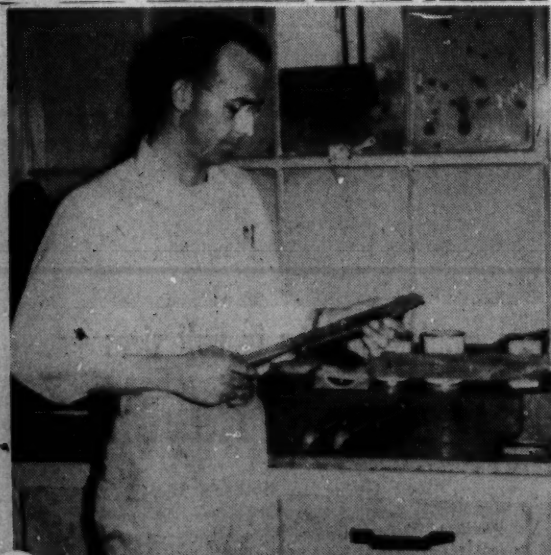

The Y is furnishing the soft drinks and dessert and the girls are bringing covered dishes. Mrs. Frances Funderburk is in charge. Those planning to attend should notify her.

Assisting with the registration and arrangements were Mrs. Ray Tugman, Mrs. Lowell Steele, Mrs. Juanita Johnson, Mrs. H. M. Angel, Mrs. Frances Funderburk, Miss Margery Burns and Miss Lucinda Jones.

ENO PLANT SUGGESTION—Clyde Russell, employee in the Envelope Room at Edna Plant, Reidsville, has won a cash award from the Cone Mills Corporation for a suggestion. His idea is to use small wooden pegs to hold the leather to the front box plate on the loom. The method of gluing which has been used in the past has often failed to hold the leather piece and has caused damage to the shuttles.

CONE EMPLOYEES GIVE HELP—C. C. Stanley, 1408 Vine Street, and his son Arthur, 1407 Hubbard Street, last Sunday gave their time and energy to the construction of the new Greensboro Cerebral Palsy School. Another son, Henry Stanley, 1524 Tucker Street, also aided in the work. Mr. Stanley says that next time he is going to take four or five of his six sons to work on the school. The building on Gatewood Street is about two thirds finished. Volunteers are badly needed for the work yet to be done. The two men shown above are Proximity Plant employees. The Stanley brother not shown is an employee at Revolution.

As Everyone Knows

It is our opinion that the general public feels there has been too much noise about the so-called secrecy law enacted by the General Assembly.

We have always been a strong advocate of the public's being given as much information as possible about all matters affecting it. On the other hand, we try to be practical enough to realize that executive sessions are indispensable to proper planning and functioning of even legislative bodies.

We are very much afraid that representatives of the press who have so vigorously opposed the barring of reporters from some special meetings do not realize that although they may claim to represent the public, the public does not have the opportunity of determining whether they represent it or not. In other words, the members of the General Assembly are elected by the people. Representatives of this paper or any other paper we know of are not elected by the public.

We are quite sure that the directors of publications, radio companies and television companies have executive sessions, and during those sessions the stockholders as a whole are not invited. Nor would it be proper for them to insist upon being admitted. It is quite true that the directors are responsible to the stockholders and must in the end report to the stockholders.

So are our representatives to the General Assembly responsible to their constituents, but that does not mean that they cannot go into executive session when they consider it wise to do so. It certainly does not mean that they cannot have executive conferences without having present at all times reporters who may or may not report the facts and who may at their discretion give whatever slant they so desire to what they hear and see.

Let it not be thought that this paper is not one hundred percent for the freedom of the press, but in this case relative to the secrecy law passed by the General Assembly it seems apparent that some members of the press are requesting more than freedom by claiming powers that are not rightfully theirs and posing in the role of selected representatives of the public, which is not the case as everyone knows.

DOGS by Tom Farley

THE FIRST STEP

Many dog owners make the mistake of teaching their pets to do a few tricks before they give any thought to teaching the dogs good manners and simple obedience. Once the fundamentals of obedience are learned, the dog will be more easily controlled and can then learn tricks. Though it is preferable to start this training shortly after a dog comes into a home, it is never too late, and an older dog can learn just as easily as a young one.

Before starting the first lesson, it is important that the home trainer thoroughly understand certain things. First, the dog should be kept on leash during training periods so that commands can be enforced. Second, commands should be given in a firm, friendly tone of voice, without shouting. Third, lavish praise should be offered if the dog responds properly, or strong disapproval if he does not. In that way, the dog is never in doubt.

The leash and collar used are very important. The leash should be a long one, preferably six feet. The collar should be a slip chain collar, a simple metal link strand with rings at both ends, which slips easily over the dog's head. Any correction, other than by voice, should be a quick, sharp jerk on this collar.

After the dog has gotten used to the leash and collar, teach him to "sit" on command. Don't use the expression "sit down" as "down" is another, separate command. To make the dog assume the sitting position, stand on his right side and take a short grip on the leash with the right hand. Place the left hand over the loins. Pull up on the leash at the same time your left hand pushes back with a rolling motion. If the dog is directly in front and facing the trainer and the right hand is used, the thumb will be on his right side. If he is at the left side in what is known as the "heel" position, the left hand will be used with the thumb still on the right side.

Praise the dog lavishly when he responds. Repeat this lesson during brief training periods for a few days. By then the dog should have learned this first step in his training curriculum. Remember that a dog wants to behave in a way that will please his master, but he must be shown what is expected from him. A short time spent each day teaching a dog will make him a respectable member of the family and the community.

Pythian Echoes

by R. Cole Lee

Candidate for honors of knight-hood, Robert L. Holder, was obligated in the Rank of Page in preparation for a more extensive course in the second Rank to be administered next Monday evening.

Pythian Cordie Beverly, Sr., was out for the first time after several weeks of confinement between the hospital and his home. Glad to have seen you, Ole Boy, and trust that in the very near future you will be your real self again.

The committee on the broken-down stoker and boiler in the boys' dormitory at the Children's Home, Clayton, reported excellent progress. In case you are not familiar with the names of the committee, they are: W. B. Burke, Millard Leonard and T. G. Watkins. Any of these men would be mighty pleased to receive your gift toward eliminating the indebtedness of $1,968.00. Thanks, boys, for your help.

The paper drive, although short of our goal, was very good. We wish to thank all who contributed and appreciate the wonderful spirit of cooperation in joining with us in trying to help someone else.

You are invited to attend the special evangelistic services starting this Sunday at the Memorial Presbyterian Church on the Mc Knight Mill Road. Services will begin each evening at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Clarence Nida, former chaplain of the Air Force, of Los Angeles, California, will be the special speaker. In this connection let me advance this thought: the most elevated conception of true manhood and womanhood, character, or conduct can be found in the Book for all men—the Bible. Come and you will enjoy the unfolding of those principles which will make of you a better man or woman as the Book is opened.

Thoughts On The Business Of Life

One very important ingredient of success is a good, wide-awake, persistent, tireless enemy. An enemy to an ambitious man is like the rhinoceros bird to the rhinoceros. When the enemy comes the rhinoceros bird tells about it. When a successful man is making mistakes the enemy immediately calls attention to them and warns the man. Get for yourself a first class enemy, cultivate him as an enemy, and when you achieve success, thank him.—Colonel Frank B. Shotts.

The very helpfulness of the world today is in itself a repudiation of that self-sufficient and self-confident view of life that the world in its progressive development has outgrown the need for religion. It is religion which gives the world what it most needs, a standard of right living, a cause to maintain and defend, a leader to follow and a law to obey.—John Grier Hibben

It is a general error to suppose the loudest complainers for the public to be the most anxious for the welfare.—Burke

Don't push out, or to use a slang expression, don't be on the make. Don't play the braggart. Don't be conceited. Don't have bad manners. Don't be on the lookout for number one. Don't lose your temper. Don't be resentful of slights. Don't get malicious satisfaction out of the sins of others.—Frank S. Gavin, D.D.

Life is the continuous adjustment of internal relations to external relations.—Herbert Spencer

Unlimited power is worse for the average person than unlimited alcohol; and the resulting intoxication is more damaging for others. Very few have not deteriorated when given absolute dominion. It is worse for the governor than for the governed.—William Lyon Phelps

Whoever yields to temptation debases himself with a debasement from which he can never rise. A man can be wronged and live; but the unrestricted, unchecked impulse to do wrong is the first and second death.—Horace Mann

The Christian faith is not one of cold intellect; rather it is full of love, grace and humanity. It has the strength and compassion with which Christ was able to change the course of human life from evil to good, from selfishness to service, from despair to faith in the highest.—William T. Nanning, D.D.

Those who enjoy the large pleasures of advanced age are those who have sacrificed the small pleasures of youth.—Charles E. Carpenter.

PRIMARY APRIL 27

LISTEN AMERICANS!

... by George S. Benson
President of Harding College

WASHINGTON—Twenty years ago the Roosevelt administration recruited an intellectual "Brain Trust" from among the college professors of the nation. Today the Eisenhower administration recruits its "team" largely from among the nation's top-flight businessmen. Obviously there will be fewer governmental theories incubated and more "elbow grease" practically employed in the big business of government.

Concrete results of the new policies and practices now being established throughout the federal government will not, however, be seen or felt by John Q. Public for a little while. The Cabinet members I've visited have had to spend most of their time up to now getting acquainted with their operations and setting up their first and second level administrative personnel.

Good management, if achieved, won't be fully reflected in the 1953-54 Eisenhower budget because the new departmental heads have too many old commitments made by the preceding administration to make good and not enough time for a thorough budget study. The 1954-55 budget should begin to show the pattern of businessman management in government, and in the succeeding two years the full efficiency and economy heralded by the new administration may be properly expected by the American taxpayers.

A reporter making the rounds in Washington is impressed with two characteristics in the new Eisenhower official family—its high level of ability and experience in business operations, and its high level of individual character. Each new appointment seems to be based on an extremely rigid requirement in character and proven ability.

Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense, has headed the world's biggest business, General Motors; and the government department he now directs spends 65 per cent of all federal funds. George M. Humphrey, the new Treasurer, is one of the nation's leading industrialists and financiers, and has a vast experience in big operations. Sinclair Weeks, Commerce Department head, is another top-flight industrialist and financier, a recognized authority on problems affecting business and commerce.

Arthur E. Summerfield, new Postmaster General in charge of a $20-billion yearly government business, was the country's biggest individual automobile dealer. Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay is a highly successful businessman. Joseph Dodge, the new Budget Director, is one of America's leading bankers. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson knows agriculture from the bottom up, is counted among the world's leading agriculture economists. In addition to having reached the top in their chosen fields of enterprise, all these men have distinguished records of community and public service; and, most important, I think, they are lifelong churchmen. Ability and integrity form a priceless combination for the big job that needs to be done in Washington.

Cesar Cone School News

Children in Mrs. Lineberry's fifth grade who made the scholastic honor roll for March are Rebecca Craven, Sara Cable, Judy Smith, Jerry Coffey, and Marvin Lewey. Ted Nance and Charles Morris had art work chosen for the art exhibit.

The following pupils entered the spelling contest held recently at the school: Larry Kirkman, Eddie Murphy, Carolyn Cole, Jerry Coffey, Nancy Martin, Anne Hilliard, Becky Evans, and Martha Brady. Becky Evans was the winner, with Jerry Coffey runner-up. Becky will represent the school in the city-wide contest.

Carl Hinshaw of Mrs. Smith's sixth grade won a two-weeks camping trip at Camp Herman this summer for selling the most candy in the annual candy sale sponsored by Cone Memorial YMCA in the interest of World Service. Carl sold 275 boxes of candy.

Last Friday the grade-mothers of Miss Pinnix' third grade gave the children an egg hunt and served refreshments later. James Holder and Gene Haynes won a prize for finding the most eggs.

The boys and girls in Mrs. Davis' room enjoyed a lovely party Friday before Easter, given by their grade-mothers and father, Mrs. Cable, Mrs. McClean, Mrs. Wyrick, Mrs. Kinney and Mr. Frank Poe. During the egg hunt, the largest number of eggs was found by Gerald Crum, Michael Brewer, Paula Morris, and Billy Milam. Each child received an Easter bunny, and lovely refreshments were served.

The class is enjoying practicing for their May Day program which will be May 1st. Those taking part are Frankie Sue Poe, Sandra Smith, Marion Smith, Linda Davis, Roger Pinnix, Jerry McClean, Charles Garner, Everette Mills, and Michael Kinney.

The boys and girls in Miss Brockman's first grade have been studying about Spring. They have written stories and illustrated them. In their science lesson, they found out the animals that had been hibernating. Some of the children had seen the robins on their lawns. When spring flowers are brought to the room, they learn the names of them. Some days they take a walk during recess period to see the flower gardens near the school.

The grade-mothers of Miss Rowland's third grade, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Mrs. Wiley Pursley, and Mrs. D. L. Owens, gave a party for Easter last Friday at Mrs. Owens' home. Balloons were given as favors and ice cream and cookies were served. George Hipp got a prize for finding the most eggs and Joe Ford got a prize for finding the silver egg. Ellis Craig brought his rabbit and Christine Pursley brought three turtles to visit our room last Wednesday.

The second grade children in Mrs. Wimbish's room have been learning interesting facts about Holland. This study culminated in a chapel program given for the primary grades. Dutch songs, dances and poems were presented. The first grade children in the room participated in the program by dramatizing the story of Little Red Riding Hood.

The children of Mrs. Wimbish's room have enjoyed an Easter Egg Hunt given by the grade-mothers of the room. Finders of the lucky eggs were Cindy Alvis and Steve Southern. After the hunt refreshments were served.

Friday before Easter, the grade-mothers in Miss Harper's first grade gave an Easter Egg Hunt for the children. About one hundred eggs were hidden for the children to find. Morris Whitfield found the most eggs.

The Tuesday after Easter some little visitors came to visit Miss Harper's room. These boys and girls were shown some of the many things of interest to first grade children. They seemed to like the big tortoise best. The little visitors hope to be in the first grade next year.
